An Emperor Desperate for Glory

Imperator Gaius, quamquam in castris educatus erat, et cognomen suum Caligiam ceperat de parvis caligis militaribus quas gerebat, rem militarem semei tantum in principatu attigit. Germanos Britannosque debellare s' constituit. Itaque exercitu parato in Galiam contendit. Nihil autem amplius confecit quam Adminium Cunobelini Britannorum regis filium in deditioinem recipere. Tum, quasi insula universa victa, epistulam magnificam Romam misit.

- 10 In Germania, cum veram victoriam renuntiare non posset, paucos custodes Germanos trans flumen Rhenum duci et celari iussit. Post prandium hostes adesse nuntiatum est. Quo facto cum amicis et equitibus e castris se praecipitavit, et cum Rhenum transiisset Germanos specie captivorum in catenis reduxit. Satis constat eum deinde exercitum suum ad litus 15 Oceani duxisse. Ibi, peditibus equitibusque atque etiam ballistis instructis, omnibus subito ut conchas colligerent galeasque completerent imperavit. Has conchas "spolia Oceani" vocavit.
