IV. Questions 41-50 refer to the following passage.

1 Iason igitur uno pede nudo in regiam pervenit. Pede nudo viso, Pelias subito timore adfectus est;
2 intellexit enim hunc esse hominem quem oraculum demonstravisset. Hoc igitur consilium iniit.
3 Rex erat quidam Aeetes, qui regnum Colchidis illo tempore obtinebat. Huic commissum erat
4 vellus illud aureum quod Phrixus olim ibi reliquerat. Constituit igitur Pelias Iasoni negotium dare
5 ut hoc vellus obtineret; quod erat res magni periculi, eum in itinere periturum esse sperabat.
6 Iasonem igitur ad se arcessivit, et eum cohortatus quid fieri vellet docuit. Ille etsi intellegebat
7 rem esse difficillimam, negotium libenter suscepit. Quod iter longum erit, Iason solus iter facere
8 noluit. Dimisit igitur nuntios in omnis partis, qui causam itineris docerent et diem itinieris
9 nuntiarent. Interea, Argo cuidam, qui summam scientiam nauticarum rerum habebat, negotium
10 dedit ut navem aedificaret. In his rebus circiter decem dies consumpti sunt; Argus, enim, qui 11 operi praeerat, faber summae diligentiae erat.
