Read the following passage, and then answer questions 46 - 50.

Bacchus, deus iuvenis et pulcher, quandam insulam in Mari Aegaeo saepe visitabat. Olim dum in insula dormit, piratae navem in arenam subduxerunt. Hi piratae, homines avari et crudeles, iuvenem invenerunt et magno cum gaudio inter se 5 dixerunt, "Non ad Africam sine hoc iuvene navigabimus. Incolae illius terrae servos semper cupiunt et ei pecuniam multam nobis dabunt si nos eis hunc trademus." Itaque Bacchum qui dormiebat ceperunt, et eum in navem portaverunt.

Brevi tempore deus e somno surrexit. Captores non timuit, 10 sed iratus erat. "Mox" dixit Bacchus, "hi nautae me deum timebunt." Subito vites pampinique ubique florebant et in altum ascendebant. Piratae, ubi haec viderant, perterriti erant et magno cum timore captivum spectaverunt. Capilli in capitibus eorum horruerunt. Ex aqua tigres leonesque feri in 15 navem ascenderunt et haec animalia piratas petiverunt. Viri clamaverunt et in mare se iecerunt. Ibi Iuppiter eos in delphinos mutavit. Denique Neptunus navem ad insulam rededit.
